

Changing the screen resolution for YouTube videos

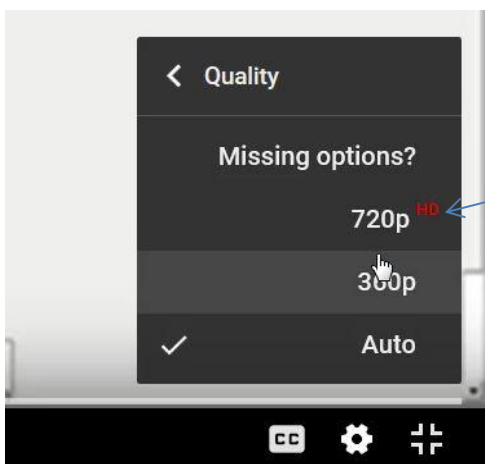

Occasionally YouTube videos look blurry – this is due to the default settings within YouTube and so the screen resolution needs to be changed to High Definition (HD) as all the videos have been recorded in HD.

Go to the settings cog bottom right of the YouTube Video player

The default setting may be set to Auto 360p. Left click on this

Left click on 720p which is the High definition setting